

Opening Doors...Changing Lives

Dear Friend,

Every parent dreams of a bright, fulfilling future for their child.

The teachers, therapists and staff at CP Rochester's Augustin Children's Center share this vision. Each day they explore more effective ways for delivering high-quality Early Intervention Services to at-risk young children and their families. Despite the many challenges ahead, we are excited and inspired by the successful stories of achievement that are all around us each day.

AURORA

Four-year-old Aurora, diagnosed with cerebral palsy and epilepsy due to a stroke at birth, made great developmental progress while receiving in-home Early Intervention Services. Now in CP Rochester's Preschool, she is making enormous strides every day with a specialized program plan that provides a wide array of services in one location.

THE BIATAS

As teachers and parents the Biatas sought a preschool environment that would provide a quality education and stimulate a love of learning for their children. Their goal was achieved at Augustin Children's Center where children with and without disabilities learn together. A year after their daughter Taylor graduated, their son, Carter, entered as a special education student. Carter has Spina Bifida with developmental delays in PT, OT and other learning and social areas. Now in first grade, he is excelling academically and socially and is no longer classified as a student with special needs. Lincoln Biata recently joined our preschool and became yet another Biata success story!

AIDAN

"Aidan's progress as a toddler receiving in-home Early Intervention Services was remarkable. Today, Aidan enjoys playing soccer with his friends. We are so grateful that you were there for him!"

—Tom & Diane

As Aurora, the Biatas, and Aidan's stories show, our vision of creating a support network that brings together everyone in a child's world to shape a model of care that is inclusive, responsive and lasting is making a difference.

This important work ahead of us comes as we are experiencing significant cuts in funding for our Early Intervention Services. Now more than ever, CP Rochester's Augustin Children's Center needs support from generous donors like you to make sure our vision continues.

Please help us carry on our mission of enabling families of at-risk infants and young children to achieve the bright and fulfilling future they deserve.
